PUPIL SEGREGATION BANNED

Ike Gag Halts Army Hearings a Week

SUPREME COURT RULES IT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Reaction of Whites in South Varies on Decision

Edict in Effect

By Robert Young
The Supreme Court's ruling today that school segregation is unconstitutional has set off a storm of reaction in the South. In Alabama, where the law is most strictly enforced, the reaction is one of defiance. In other states, the reaction is more varied, with some whites expressing a willingness to accept the ruling and others expressing a more hostile attitude.

The ruling does not end segregation in one stroke. Further hearings were set for the fall to decide how and when to end the practice. The ruling is a landmark in the history of the civil rights movement, and it is expected to have a profound effect on the lives of millions of Americans.
